Subject: ESDO Trainee Fellowships 2016 REPORT

The Department of Hematology & Medical Oncology in Knappschaftskrankenhaus in Bochum is comprised of physicians, nurses, researchers, and other health care professionals specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of patients with cancers or disorders of the blood, solid organs, or soft tissues.

As a multidisciplinary, collaborative practice, Medizinische Klinik in Knappschaftskrankenhaus in Bochum is committed to the training and education of medical professionals to advance cancer care and research.

Their guiding principle is putting the patient's needs first in every aspect of care.

Their mission is to provide better care of the sick, investigation into their problems, and further education of those who serve.

The Hematology-Oncology Fellowship Training Program at the Medizinische Klinik in Knappschaftskrankenhaus in Bochum is designed to develop academic physicians who are competent in clinical hematology/oncology and research.

Fellowship education activities are intense and offer advanced teaching and training opportunities.

Emphasis is placed on clinical diagnosis, screening and prevention; medical management of malignancies; short- and long-term effects of treatment; and cancer survivorship.

During fellowship the constant association and work with professor Schmiegel and the members of professor Schmiegel's team has been most pleasurable. Without their help and counsel, always generously and unstintingly given, the completion of this fellowship would have been immeasurably more difficult.

Special thanks to Prof.Dr Schmiegel, Prof. Dr. Schroers, Doz. Dr. Baraniskin, Dr. Peuckert, Dr. Pohl, Dr. Chomiak, Dr. Bredenbröcker, Dr Lange, Dr. Hoyer, Dr. Kost, Dr Saleh, nurses and many others who have made my stay in Bochum unforgettable and very useful.

Yours sincerely,

Elma Kapisazović
